

EKU, MTSU Threaten To Repeat

Friday was a good day for the defending champions in the first round of competition at the Ohio Valley Conference track championship at Municipal Stadium.

Eastern Kentucky's women built a big 25-point lead in the team standings while Middle Tennessee State held onto a slim 1½-point advantage over Murray State in men's action. Both EKU and MTSU are heavy favorites to repeat.

Austin Peay swept the top three places in the 10,000-meter run as John Ryan (31.26.7), James Faulkner (31.26.80) and Tom Maher (31.26.90) galloped across the finish line hand-in-hand.

The Governors' Brad Minear placed fifth in the shot put with a throw of 44-7¼ which was 10 feet behind the winning toss.

The tiny APSU contingency, which features almost exclusively long distance runners, ended the day in fourth place with 14 points — six behind

MTSU.

APSU doesn't field a women's team.

The Blue Raiders' Malcom Branham turned in the day's best performance with a long jump of 26-¼ which qualified him for the NCAA championship.

The OVC meet concludes today.
