Tin Can, Chapel Hill, March 8.—(AP)—Washington and Lee's flying Generals won the Southern conference indoor games here tonight in a brilliant rally which came to a climax when the Virginians won the mile relay to take the meet two points.

The Generals had a total of 29 Points, and the University of North Carolina was second with 27. Maryland and Georgia Tech tied for third with 13 points each.

Approximately 400 athletes from Louisiana to Maryland participated in three divisions of a general indoor meet conducted in the Tin Can, huge indoor sports arena of the University of North Carolina.

The Divisions.

Separate competition was provided for high school or prep teams, freshman teams, and Southern conference varsity teams.

North Carolina's yearlings galloped away to win in the freshman division with 21 points. The Duke frosh had eight points, Washington and Lee seven and one-fourth, and Virginia and Georgia Tech three each.

Augusta Military academy, Fort Defiance, Va., scored 22 points to win the scholastic competition.

The Charlotte high school was second with 18 1-23 points. Atlanta Tech counted eight points, and Raleigh and High Point, scored seven each.

The climax to a brilliant event, run off before a crowd of more than 2,000 persons, was the mile relay, in the varsity class in which the generals won to capture the southern conference championship.

North Carolina took an early lead in the Southern Conference events. In the second half of the meet, however, the Washington and Lee Generals started their sensational rally. When the mile relay had called, the Generals had closed the gap until the score was 25 to 24 in favor of the Tar Heels.

The teams were away to practically an even round on the first quarter of the final mile event. Then, an unusual thing happened.

Garrett Drops Baton.

As Garrett, the second North Carolina man, rounded the second curve, his baton flew from his hand. Before he could recover it and get back in the race, Washington and Lee's man was too far ahead to ever be overtaken.

A sparkling feature of the meet was the performance of Brodie Arnold, Tar Heel star, in the pole vault. Arnold hurtled himself over the bar at 12 feet, 7 inches to set a new all-time University of North Carolina mark.

Conference coaches present believed this height also set a new southern indoor record, although this was not verified.

Farmer Extra Fast.

In the varsity 60-yard dash, Farmer, North Carolina, covered the distance in 6 2-5 seconds to equal the time which won the Millrose indoor games in New York this year.

In addition to the four leaders, six other teams competed in the Southern conference varsity events. Tulane and Virginia scored 11 points each, Georgia 10, N. C. State 6, South Carolina 5 1/2, and Duke 4 1/2.

Hamm, Georgia Tech, was first in individual scoring with nine points, and Speer, Washington and Lee, was second with eight.

Hamm leaped 22 feet, 7 inches to win the broad jump.

Young Wins 2 Mile.

Young, Georgia, southern conference cross country champion, led the field in the two-mile in the fast time of 9 minutes, 27 2-5 seconds.

Linsley, Maryland, stepped the 880-yard run in 2 minutes, 2 seconds to win that event.

Head officials of the meet were W. A. Alexander, referee; J. V. Mulligan, starter; Frank A. Kopf, clerk of course; H. J. Stegman, chief finish judge; N. G. Fritchell, chief timer; A. S. Lawrence, chief field judge; W. E. Caldwell, chief inspector, and Lester Belding, announcer.
